Event Details

The Coming Home Again Singles Classic is a highly anticipated annual event held at the prestigious Greenfield Tennis Club in a serene location surrounded by picturesque mountains. The tournament lasts for a week, allowing players to engage in intense yet enjoyable matches while enjoying breathtaking natural scenery.

Participants are divided into different categories based on skill level, ensuring fair competition among players. This allows both amateurs and professionals to participate, making the event inclusive and exciting for all those involved.

A Unique Format

What sets the Coming Home Again Singles Classic apart from other tennis tournaments is its unique format. The organizers have taken inspiration from popular reality TV shows and incorporated it into the tournament. Each player is assigned a tennis coach, who not only helps them improve their skills but also provides valuable guidance throughout the matches.

In addition, players have the opportunity to showcase their personalities by creating their own team names and dressing up in creative outfits during the matches. This adds a touch of fun and entertainment to the tournament, making it a memorable experience for both players and spectators.

World-Class Facilities and Amenities

The Greenfield Tennis Club, the venue of the Coming Home Again Singles Classic, offers top-notch facilities and amenities to ensure a comfortable and enjoyable experience for all participants. The tennis courts are maintained to perfection, providing a perfect surface for players to showcase their talent.

Furthermore, the club provides on-site accommodations for players who wish to stay on the premises. These accommodations offer stunning views of the surrounding mountains, allowing players to relax and unwind after their matches.

Exciting Prizes and Rewards

The winners of the Coming Home Again Singles Classic are awarded not only with prestigious trophies but also with exciting prizes. These prizes range from professional tennis equipment to sponsored trips to renowned tennis academies around the world. The rewards serve as a motivation for participants to give their best during the tournament and make it a truly unforgettable experience.

Additionally, participants receive a special edition tournament t-shirt, ensuring a lasting memory of their participation in this phenomenal event.

I wasn't cooking for my mother but for the rest of us. When she first moved downstairs she was still eating, though scantily, more just to taste what we were having than from any genuine desire for food. The point was simply to sit together at the kitchen table and array ourselves like a family again. My mother would gently set herself down in her customary chair near the stove. I sat across from her, my father and sister to my left and right, and crammed in the center was all the food I had made—a spicy codfish stew, say, or a casserole of gingery beef, dishes that in my youth she had prepared for us a hundred times.

In Coming Home Again, celebrated novelist Chang-rae Lee, author of On Such a Full Sea and Native Speaker, recalls the year he spent living at home, and learning to cook the Korean dishes of his childhood before his mother died of stomach cancer. An achingly personal story about love, grief and regret, Coming Home Again confronts the decisions we can't take back and the moments we can't let go with astounding grace and poignancy.

Coming Home Again was originally published in The New Yorker, October 16, 1995.
